ALDI SHOCK AT VETO OF STOW PLAN

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

BUDGET supermarket chain Aldi remains "fully committed" to opening a store at The Stow, despite seeing its latest proposals turned down by council planners.

Members of Harlow Council's development management committee unanimously rejected the German retailer's proposals to transform the former Charvills garage site into a 900 sq m foodstore and 70-space car park.

Councillors cited the scheme's lack of integration with the rest of the shopping precinct as the primary reason for their refusal to back the project, and also outlined concerns over parking provision and increased traffic congestion.

The decision shocked members of the public who had turned up at the meeting to show support for the plans, which received an overwhelmingly positive response from local residents during a consultation exercise earlier this year.

Speaking to the Star this week, Aldi property director Adam Ward said the firm was disappointed by the decision but eager to rework the proposals with the view to submitting a new application early next year.

"We are naturally very disappointed planning permission was refused on design and highway matters and we respectfully do not agree with these reasons," he said.

"We worked hard on the scheme, which was supported by over 96 per cent of people living in The Stow, including many elderly who find it difficult travelling to supermarkets outside of the centre.

"We were also greatly encouraged by the response from local businesses who welcomed the extra footfall and parking spaces that ALDI would bring to The Stow.

He added: "Whilst it's unfortunate there will now be further delays in bringing these benefits forward and creating 30 new local jobs, ALDI are fully committed to The Stow and Harlow and, despite the decision, we are pleased members of the committee welcomed the principle an ALDI on the site.

"We hope any issues are swiftly resolved to enable a submission early in Rosie's card design is a real cracker!

SEVEN-year-old Rosie Parnell unwrapped an early Christmas present this week after winning a competition to design Princess Alexandra Hospital's official Christmas card. Rosie's design was voted top of the tree in an online poll of PAH staff after she took up the challenge with her classmates at Pear Tree Mead Primary School in Harlow.

"It's amazing to see my design as a proper card," she said. "I can't believe it; I want to send one to my mummy and daddy now!"

PAH chief executive Melanie Walker said the competition had attracted hundreds of entries from schoolchildren across Harlow. "The designs were brilliant and staff really enjoyed voting for their favourite card," she said. "We are so grateful for all the children who took part.

Rosie's prize was book tokens and she is now compiling a list of her favourite books for Christmas. "I like reading Roald Dahl books so I think I might get another one with my tokens," she said.

£2.8m makeover for town 'jewel'

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertssexnews.co.uk

CHRISTMAS has come early for Harlow Council after it unwrapped a huge lottery grant paving the way for a planned revamp of the Town Park.

The £1.83m windfall from the Big Lottery and Heritage Lottery funds means the council can now press ahead with the ambitious makeover plans, which were unveiled to the public earlier this year at a series of consultation events.

The cash will be added to funding already set aside and used to back a massive £2.8m regeneration project that will see Pets' Corner renovated, the Bandstand upgraded and part of Spurriers House converted into a new cafe.

Further improvements are also planned for the neglected Water Gardens area.

Elsewhere, the former public toilet block on School Lane will be transformed into an information and interpretation point, while new pathways, seating and signage will be installed across the park.

The work – which will also incorporate a range of horticultural improvements – is expected to start early in the new year.

Tony Durcan, the council's portfolio holder for regeneration & enterprise, said the project would bring the park into the 21st century.

"The Town Park and its facilities are widely recognised as the town's jewel in the crown and Harlow Council is committed to conserving, restoring and enhancing this wonderful 20th century park," he said.

"This grant enables us to restore and renew the park to its former glory so that it meets the needs of the 21st century residents of Harlow and beyond.

"Residents have been involved in developing these plans from the start and with this funding we can now bring the plans to life. I would like to thank our partners and supporters who backed our funding bid."

Carole Souter, chief executive of Heritage Lottery Fund, added: "We're delighted to be bringing a bit of seasonal cheer to a number of popular parks including Harlow Town Park, especially as demand for funding continues to be very high."

"It's been a tough year for those caring for our public parks but HLF and BIG's commitment to this important part of the UK's heritage is unwavering."

"Parks enrich millions of people's lives on a daily basis – providing room to relax and reflect – and it's vital that we continue to value and protect them not just for ourselves but for the next generation, too."

the new year. If this happens and with a fair wind we can still potentially open late next year."

A council spokesman said: "All committee members welcomed Aldi coming to Harlow and agreed that a store in The Stow could help its regeneration. However, it was disappointing that the proposal no longer included residential units and that the store was still not integrated into The Stow itself."

"The committee shared concerns around the design and appearance of the building and the lack of landscaping.

"The regeneration of The Stow is important to the council and it is felt that this is a key site fronting the roundabout so this opportunity must not be lost, even though it means a short delay before an Aldi can be built."

He added: "The proposed entrance and exit arrangements were of concern as traffic congestion is an issue in Harlow. It was generally agreed that the current two accesses to the site should be retained but with an exit only onto First Avenue which would help to reduce potential traffic problems."

Kier receives commendation for work placement scheme

KIER Harlow has been given a glowing commendation for its work in the community after reaching the finals of a new national awards scheme.

The joint venture partnership between maintenance contractors Kier and Harlow Council was highly commended at the Innovation Institute Awards for its commitment to providing work placement schemes for young and vulnerable residents.

Operations director John Phillips said: "We are delighted to have been highly commended in these awards.

"In each area that we work in we are always looking for ways we can make a tangible difference to local residents' lives. We hope our dedication to providing training and mentoring demonstrates our commitment to young people."

The organisation was nominated after recruiting four students who were not in education, employment or training to take part in a work experience scheme supported by a grant from the European Social Fund.

It also helped a group of students from St Mark's School reach the finals of the Young Enterprise Essex Awards earlier this year after providing the youngsters with business mentors.

Mr Phillips added: "Through tackling issues such as youth unemployment in the area, we aspire to make a real difference to their futures."

Jessica's £2k goal to play at Deaflympics

A TALENTED young footballer is appealing for the public's help to raise the money she needs to fly out to Bulgaria to represent Team GB at next summer's Deaflympics.

Jessica Pert (19), who was born profoundly deaf, has been playing football since she was 10.

She was signed up by Fulham Deaf Ladies when she was 16 and last month was picked for Great Britain's ladies team in the Deaflympics in Bulgaria.

But with little public funding available for participants, she now needs to raise £2,000 to join her team-mates in Sofia at the tournament next summer. Jessica, of Staple Tye, Harlow, said: "I feel really amazed and delighted to be selected for GB ladies team. It's the most amazing experience of my life.

"I want to go out there and win gold for Great Britain and to do all of us proud, especially my team and myself. It's my dream.

"The money will pay for my flights, hotel, food, kits, water, pitch and all other expenses we need for a three-week international football tournament." Jessica has managed to raise just over £200 since being officially selected for Team GB last month.

She is now planning a number of events to help her reach her target, including discos and fundraisers run in conjunction with Harlow-based football teams. She has also set up an Everyclick page for online donations.

Jessica's father, Gary, said he was "incredibly proud" of his daughter – and appealed for kind-hearted residents to help his daughter realise her dreams.

"Jessica has always loved football and it makes me very proud to see her fulfilling her dreams," he said.

"I'm hoping to go to Bulgaria to watch her and support her through the games."

Funding boost for town autism group

VOLUNTEERS at a Harlow-based autism charity are celebrating after receiving an unexpected funding boost from a successful entrepreneur.

PACT for Autism were handed £5,000 by business magnate and philanthropist Alan Govinden after he was told about their work by Harlow MP Robert Halfon.

Group chairperson Sam Fancett said the money would go a long way towards helping expand its services.

"We are absolutely delighted to receive such a generous personal donation from Mr Govinden," she said. "His donation means a lot and will help us to expand our services.

"We would also like to thank Mr Halfon for his continued support of the work that we do."

Founded in 2005, PACT supports families of children with autism and other special needs and disabilities. It relies on donations as its main source of income.

Services include a helpline, family breaks, monthly meetings and access to regular sport and leisure opportunities for children.

Mr Halfon, who has been heavily involved with helping the charity since its launch, said: "I have been inspired by PACT since our first introductions in 2005. Since then I have learnt a lot about autism and the amazing services PACT provides.

"Mr Govinden is an incredible guy and I'm sure his donation will go a long way to help PACT with their services."

Customers chip in with gifts for kids

SACKFULS of presents will soon be winging their way to underprivileged children across the globe thanks to customers of a national chain of opticians.

Staff at the Harlow branch of Specsavers, in East Gate, have been collecting gifts and treats including toys, books, pens and sweets to fill shoeboxes as part of the Operation Christmas Child appeal.

Elaine Green, store director at the Harlow branch, said: "Christmas is all about children so we really wanted to do something that would be giving something to them.

"We've had a great response. In fact the first day we put our poster up we had donations. It really shows the generosity of our local community."

Operation Christmas Child began sending Christmas shoeboxes around the world in 1990. Since then more than 94 million underprivileged children have benefited from the charity's work.

Lottery winners

THE winner of the £1,000 prize in the St Clare Hospice lottery drawn on Friday, December 14 is ticket holder 516647, who lives in Loughton.

The second prize of £100 goes to the holder of ticket number 614268, who lives in Sawbridgeworth.

COUNCIL MATTERS

By Cllr Mark Wilkinson
Leader, Harlow Council

WITH this being my last column of the year, I want to look back at 2012 - Harlow's 65th birthday year - which includes some of the town's proudest and saddest moments and then forward to next year.

One of the highlights for me this year was the town's involvement in the Olympic Games. I was extremely proud, and I know residents were too, when Harlow's Andrew Osagie and other athletes with Harlow connections took part in the games.

For the town the celebrations started when the Olympic torch was carried through streets lined with thousands of cheering residents. This historic day will live long in our memories.

One of the saddest events was the tragic deaths of Dr Sabah Usmani and her children in the fatal fire at Barn Mead. Despite the terrible circumstances, we saw Harlow's community spirit at its best with residents rallying round to support bereaved husband Dr Shakoor and each other.

This year has been good for Harlow's regeneration with the University Centre being officially opened, the news that the National Phenome Centre will be based here and the completion of more new homes.

We end the year on a high with the announcement that our jewel in the crown, the Town Park, is to receive £1.83m in lottery funding to help restore it to its former glory. We all love our park but it is ageing and I look forward to seeing the improvements in the coming years.

I also know it has been a difficult year for residents with the recession continuing to affect local jobs and household budgets.

Early in the new year the council itself faces some tough budget choices. We know the money we get from the Government will reduce significantly again.

Our budget proposals for 2013/14 will be published at the end of January and my colleagues and I will be doing all that we can to safeguard services and minimise the impact on residents. Despite these tough times the council will do all that it can to make Harlow an even better place to live.

Next year, through this column, I will keep you up to date on our progress and the budget decisions.

Finally, I would like to wish all Star readers a very Happy Christmas and New Year.

Fatal fire cops in Facebook appeal

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

DETECTIVES investigating the arson attack which claimed the lives of six members of the same family have launched a new appeal for information on social networking website Facebook.

Dr Sabah Usmani (44) and children Hira (12), Sohaib (11), Muneeb (9), Rayyan (6) and Maheen (3) all died following the blaze in Barn Mead, Harlow, on October 15.

Only Dr Usmani's husband, Dr Abdul Shakoor, survived the inferno after battling in vain to save his family.

The end-of-terrace property was burgled shortly before the fire broke out and police believe the thieves started the blaze, which took hold in the lounge area.

Now, two months on from the tragedy, officers working on the murder inquiry have taken an advertisement that will appear on the homepages of all Harlow-based members of the social networking site.

Anyone clicking on the link will be redirected to the Essex Police Facebook page where full details of the appeal can be found.

It is the first time Essex Police has used the social networking site in such a manner.

Detective Superintendent Rob Vinson, who is leading the hunt for the killers, said: "Dr Abdul Shakoor has to face the holiday season for the first time without his beloved wife Dr Sabah Usmani and their children. I hope someone's conscience will lead them to pick up the phone and call detectives or Crimestoppers and tell us the information they know."

He added: "This is one of the biggest and most complex investigations in Essex Police's history. I need the public to come forward with information,

"Dr Shakoor is a dignified, private man who is grieving for his family in what is the most unimaginably difficult circumstances. If you know something, please call."

The Crimestoppers charity is offering a reward of up to £10,000 for information leading to a conviction and The Sun newspaper is offering a similar amount.

Anyone who knows what happened on the night of the fire can contact the dedicated investigation hotline on (01277) 266869.

Follow that limo! Panto special takes kids on VIP trip

A CONVOY of limousines carrying some very special passengers was given a police escort through Harlow on Saturday.

The destination for the cars was the Playhouse theatre and the passengers were a group of children who were receiving VIP treatment courtesy of local funeral directors Daniel Robinson & Sons.

Manager Phil Barrow said: "All the children have had a tough year either due to bereavement or illness and the day was about making them feel special, something some of them have not felt for a while".

The youngsters were collected from their homes and taken to the Latton Bush Centre where they were entertained before setting off in convoy for a trip around the town, escorted en route by six police outriders.

Waiting to greet them were local MP Robert Halfon and Harlow Council chairwoman Maggie Hulcoop.

After lunch at St Paul's Church and more entertainment, they were taken into the theatre for a matinee performance of panto Jack and the Beanstalk.

"The whole day was fabulous and about having fun," said Mr Barrow. "Seeing these special children enjoying themselves with their family was so humbling."

He added: "We would like to thank the police, fire brigade, St Paul's Church, Magpie Catering and everyone involved with this year's trip for their support."

PARTNERSHIP GRANTS 2013 - 2015

Applications are invited from charitable, voluntary or 'not for profit' organisations to apply for a Council Partnership Grant for the period 2013 - 15 (subject to budget).

Partnership Grants are made to support organisations in making positive and measurable contributions to the quality of life of residents of Harlow; specifically linked to Harlow Council's Objectives.

Priority will be given to organisations:

- Whose activities contribute to the achievement of the Council's Strategic Priorities:
 - Regeneration
 - Housing
 - Young people and citizenship
 - A clean, green and sustainable environment
- Whose activities provide additionally i.e. they do not duplicate the work being undertaken by the Council or any other agency, but are complementary
- That are able to demonstrate that the money the Council grants them will enable them to draw in additional funding from other sources.

The Council will also take into consideration the organisations audited level of reserves (referring to Charity Commission guidance)

Harlow Council Christmas & New Year Waste and Recycling Collections

Christmas is a time to recycle more...

Remember to recycle cards, wrapping paper, plastics numbered 1 and 2, cardboard boxes (flattened) and sweet and biscuit tins (metal) by putting these in your recycling bin or box. A whole range of jars can be recycled, just give them a rinse first.

Recycle your real Christmas tree

There is a bookable collection service offered on a first-come-first-served basis. The fee for this is £2. Please call Contact Harlow on (01279) 446655 to request a collection. If you are signed up for fortnightly garden waste collections you can place your tree at the side of your bin on collection day. Alternatively you can dispose of your tree at the Recycling Centre for Household Waste at Riverway.

What to do with extra waste...

Over the Christmas period we understand that you may have more rubbish than normal, so we will collect one extra bag of non-recycling on the first non-recycling collection after Christmas. You can also put out extra recycling in untied bags (not black or purple), or blue boxes if you have them. Extra food waste can be placed in liners on top of your caddy or in a cardboard box.

Recycling Centre for Household Waste

This service at Riverway is provided by Essex County Council. The Centre is closed on Christmas Day, Boxing Day and New Year's Day. It will shut early at 1pm on Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve. See www.essex.gov.uk/recyclingcentres or phone 0845 603 7625 for more details.

Severe weather advice...

During severe weather you should continue to put your recycling and waste out on your advertised collection day. If the crew can't access your road due to severe weather, please leave your bins out and they will be collected. Up to the minute information and advice on collections during bad weather can be found at www.harlow.gov.uk

Contacting Harlow Council over Christmas and New Year

Contact Harlow will be open on Friday 21 December 2012 from 9am to 4.45pm and will re-open at 9am on Wednesday 2 January 2013.

Most Harlow Council services will shut down between this Christmas and New Year. This will help the Council continue to save over £100,000 through a reduction in staff pay and savings on winter energy and building costs.

During this time you can still contact the Council in an emergency by calling (01279) 446666.

Paying Council Bills

You can pay your Council bills 24 hours a day, seven days a week - with a credit or debit card at www.harlow.gov.uk or by phoning the automated bill payment line: (01279) 446600

MEP backs new rules on transporting horses

NEW EU legislation clamping down on the ill-treatment of horses being transported for slaughter has been welcomed by Euro MP Richard Howitt.

The MEP, whose East of England constituency includes Harlow, is a committed campaigner for animal rights.

On Friday he visited the Redwings Horse Sanctuary at Broadley Common to show his support for the legislation, which will see existing regulations tightened to improve transit conditions.

"The horses rescued here have found a good home where they are well cared for and have nothing to fear," Mr Howitt - a former leader of Harlow Council - told the Star this week.

"I'm afraid that this isn't true for all horses and along with leading animal welfare organisations here at home I've campaigned for the last several years to improve the travelling conditions of those horses that are traded across Europe for eventual slaughter."

"The conditions some horses are transported in are appalling, with journey times often too long and unnecessary."

The MEP, who is also a national vice-president of the RSPCA, added: "The work of Redwings Horse Sanctuary is highly regarded. I am proud the rescue centre gives abused and neglected horses a second chance in life."

Family of choking victim shocked by ambulance 'delay'

THE family of a woman who choked to death during a family meal at a pub on Mothers' Day have said they are shocked at how stretched ambulance cover is at the weekend.

Great-grandmother Janet Young (64), of Abbotswold, Harlow, collapsed while dining at the Black Swan pub in Nazeing on the evening of March 18.

Giving evidence at her inquest in Chelmsford on Thursday, Mrs Young's husband Peter voiced his concerns about the delay in the arrival of an ambulance, which took nearly 20 minutes to turn up.

"It seemed quite a while before a paramedic arrived and then quite a while after that before the ambulance crew arrived," he said. "There were family members asking us 'where are they, where are they?' It was wholly frustrating not to know where the ambulance crew were."

The inquest heard Mrs Young, who suffered from dementia and had problems swallowing food because of her medical condition, started to choke while eating her prawn starter.

She was taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital where she died a short time later.

Mr Young described how he attempted to clear the blockage with his hands and then gave his wife an abdominal thrust known as the Heimlich Manoeuvre but to no effect.

Casey Robinson, duty operations manager for the East of England Ambulance Service, said a paramedic arrived at the pub 13 minutes after the first 999 call was received at 6.30pm. She successfully kept Mrs Young alive until the arrival of an ambulance crew from Loughton at 6.49pm.

They managed to get a pulse after administering adrenalin, but Mrs Young died shortly after being admitted to the accident and emergency unit at PAH.

Responding to the family's concern over response times, Mr Robinson said there were two ambulances and two rapid response vehicles based at Harlow, adding: "There is a large population and our resources are spread out quite thinly at weekends."

Recording a narrative verdict, assistant deputy coroner Tina Harrington said: "She [Mrs Young] had been eating a meal with her family and had choked on some food that she was unable to swallow."

"This was predominantly due to a deteriorating medical condition from which she was suffering which had been diagnosed in October 2007 as fronto-temporal dementia with cerebrovascular disease."

APPALLED: Peter Young and daughter, Tracy Vitori. Left, Janet Young

Ms Harrington made no criticism of the ambulance service, but speaking afterwards Mr Young said: "My daughter and I are appalled to hear how thinly the ambulance service is spread and that the nearest available crew at that time were at Loughton."

"It would have only taken four to five minutes to get to the public house from Harlow ambulance station. We don't know if the outcome would have been different, but we are shocked to hear how stretched the ambulance service is at weekends."

Birds of prey to entertain Hawks fans

SUPPORTERS of Harlow Town FC will see their team's feathered namesakes in action in a pre-match falconry display at Barrows Farm stadium on Saturday.

The birds of prey - including a Red-tailed Hawk, a Harris Hawk, an Eagle Owl and a Peregrine Falcon - are being taken to the ground by Harlow Falconry, which is based in the Town Park.

"Falconry for the urban community is at the heart of what Harlow Falconry stands for and we pride ourselves in offering an impressive range of exciting falconry experiences for the whole family to enjoy, as well as being a leading centre for community based projects," said a spokesman.

Cabbie guilty of sex assault on passenger

A CAB driver who kissed a passenger and put his tongue into her mouth has been given a suspended jail sentence and placed on the sex offenders register.

Chelmsford Magistrates Court heard that father-of-two Patrick Francis (46), of Milwards, Harlow, now faces losing his job with ABC Cars where he has worked for seven years.

Francis denied the charge of sexual assault but was found guilty earlier this month. On Friday he was given an 18-week jail sentence suspended for two years and placed on the sex offenders register for seven years.

In addition he was made the subject of a restraining order preventing him from contacting or going to the home of his victim - who cannot be named for legal reasons - for a period of two years.

Kathy Wilson, prosecuting, said the defendant picked up the victim in his cab after she had been to a nightclub with friends.

After he dropped her off he got out of his vehicle and followed her as she walked home. "He suddenly grabbed her by the arm, kissed her and put his tongue in her mouth," said Miss Wilson.

"She shouted and pushed him away and ran into the house. She was crying and hysterical."

Miss Wilson said Francis did not know the woman but had picked her up about three times previously.

An impact statement written by the victim was read out in court. In it she described having "recurring nightmares" about what happened and said she suffered panic attacks. She no longer caught cabs or worked night shifts because she was fearful of seeing him again.

Louise Maples, representing Francis, said in mitigation the passenger had given him a kiss to say thank you and goodbye. He told police she had "grabbed him and kissed him in a friendly way".

He denied inserting his tongue into her mouth and said he was "devastated" that it has had such an effect on her life.

She said he had worked as a cab driver for 13 years, adding: "Clearly he is going to lose his taxi licence."

In a separate incident, Francis admitted assaulting his partner by beating on August 28. He was jailed for four weeks suspended for two years, to run concurrent with the sentence imposed for the sexual assault.

Francis was also given a 24 month community order during which he must attend an integrated domestic assault programme.

Miss Wilson said: "He and his partner had been out drinking; he had around 15 pints and she five to six vodka and cokes."

"On returning home he accused her of flirting in the public house they had been in. He punched her in the head with clenched fist and she fell onto her bed. He then punched her three times to the floor."

Miss Wilson said his partner threw a wine glass at him in self-defence.

Miss Maples said in mitigation: "When she threw the wine glass it provoked him. He is devastated about the bruises she suffered."

The day we got a golden key to our new home

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

IT didn't take long for one reader to recognise the young family pictured moving into Harlow's 2,000th house.

John Wade (64), of Blackbush Spring, spotted his younger self in the photograph straight away and contacted Nostalgia with a few interesting tales to tell about his brief moment in the spotlight. "I'm the one looking straight at the camera and that's my late dad, Alfred, with his hand on my shoulder," he said. "He's carrying my little brother, Paul, and that's my mum, Irene Joyce, in front of us."

"I'm not sure who the chap opening the door is, although I'm pretty sure he was some kind of council official."

"There's another photo somewhere which shows some of our new neighbours poking their heads out of their front doors to see what all the fuss was about!"

John said his dad had earlier been presented with a ceremonial 'golden' key to the property in Orchard Croft, where his mum and brother still live to this day.

"My dad got the house as part of a package he was offered after securing a job with Whitehead Engineering, which back in those days was a firm based in Templefields."

"I suppose it was just luck that he got the 2,000th house, but he was presented with a golden key to mark the occasion, which my brother has since donated to the Museum of Harlow."

But it wasn't all glitz and glamour for the Wade family on the big day, as John recalled.

"In the photo you can just make out the tops of two small trees they'd put outside the front door to mark the occasion. They looked really smart but it was just for show because as soon as the press photographers left, the people from the council took them away! I can remember my mum and dad laughing about that."

According to John, most of the homes on the street had been given to employees of either Whitehead Engineering or electronics firm Cossor.

"I've got some very fond memories of growing up on that street," he said. "We'd moved to Harlow from Wembley and because most people had come from the capital, we all seemed to get on well. It was a really close-knit community back then."

"I can still remember my dad and his workmates all riding their pushbikes along the brand new cycle tracks to work every morning. It just showed how well-designed Harlow was – it all worked perfectly."

● Do you have any fond memories of Harlow you'd like to share with Nostalgia readers? Write to us at 6 West Gate, Harlow, CM20 1JW, call (01279) 400575 or email star@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

We kept stopping on the way to take photos

HERE at mission control we're still being inundated with stories about readers' close encounters with NASA space shuttle Enterprise during its flying visit to Essex back in 1983.

This week, Annette Eaves, of Herons Wood, Harlow, sent in this photo of herself posing in front of the shuttle after she cycled all the way to Stansted Airport with late husband Tony from their home in Elsenham to catch a glimpse of it.

"It's not every day you get the chance to see a space shuttle up close and my husband was determined we weren't going to miss it," she said.

"He was a keen photographer and I can remember we kept stopping on the way to get different pictures of the shuttle approaching. "When we got to the airport we were glad we'd cycled. There was a huge traffic jam near the entrance; I couldn't believe how many people had turned up."

Annette said she was surprised at just how big the shuttle was when it touched down on the back of a Boeing 737 jet.

"It had been on the news that it was being flown in attached to another aircraft so I didn't think it would be much to look at," she said. "I remember being quite surprised at just how big it actually was."

She added: "To be honest it was more of a boy thing and while I was quite impressed with it, Tony really enjoyed himself and spent ages taking pictures of it from all angles."

SIR, I applaud Ian Beckett's letter about housing (Star, December 13). Divided we shall certainly fall if we don't confront the reality gap between housing need and new housing developments.

Harlow clearly has housing need yet is awash with private developments beyond the purchasing reach of many. Meanwhile, private planning proposals keep arriving on planning committee desks.

The West Summers proposals are a case where opponents are branded as NIMBYists, despite demonstrating opposition on planning grounds and not on aesthetic or personal preference.

The West Summers proposal, on Epping Forest land, would destroy Green Belt on the edge of Harlow and damage an already overburdened Harlow infrastructure. Under current plans it will not provide affordable homes for Harlow residents or give a home to anyone on Harlow's waiting list.

The Summers and Katherines Residents Association represents almost universal hostility to the proposal, as revealed in recent meetings with our MP Robert Halfon and our ward councillors. Yet we worry that promises of planning gain or of uncoded 'benefits' to the local economy would influence the decision.

Harlow Council and residents must indeed stand together. We need to make decisions on housing need and the town's best interests in a way that doesn't result in destructive urban sprawl whilst allowing older built areas within the town to fall into decay.

Harlow is a lovely town; it deserves better than short-term panaceas for long-term structural problems of housing and infrastructure. I hope that all councillors heed Mr Beckett's call.

County is ill-prepared to keep the traffic flowing

SIR, In the 43 years I have lived in Harlow I have never seen the scale of congestion that I was caught up in last Tuesday morning.

Had there been an emergency which ambulances, fire engines or the police needed to attend, this would have been impossible as all roads were gridlocked for miles. The situation came about because of the lack of gritting on the roads, despite Met Office warnings.

When I contacted the highways department at Essex County Council to complain I was told by a very polite young man who answered my call that I was through to an in-house call centre that dealt with highways queries.

I was also informed by a county councillor that the council's seven gritters had been out between 3am-7am that morning.

However, there was little evidence to back up this information. The fact that there are only seven gritters for the whole county was proven to be insufficient for this or any other occasion.

Spare a thought for dads who can't see their kids

SIR, At this time of year we are asked, quite rightly, to remember our wonderful service personnel who cannot be with their children at Christmas.

But there are many other parents, mainly estranged fathers, who are also unable to be with their children over the holiday, not because they don't want to or can't be but because the courts prevent them from doing so.

There is often no reason for this, other than the child being used as a lever by the mother to extract as much she can from the father, with access being denied if the answer is no. Ultimately, of course, the ones who suffer the most are the children themselves who, apart from being deprived of a parent and one set of grandparents, are raised in an atmosphere of bitterness and resentment which can only have a negative effect on them for the rest of their lives.

So please, spare a thought for the victims of a legal system that allows this situation to prevail. After all, at least service personnel and their parents are allowed to phone the children concerned and can be assured that any greetings or gifts they send will be received.

Short-term fixes not the answer to housing needs

We're so grateful for help we received

SIR, Further to your report about the vicious attack on my lurcher Winnie and myself by an unsupervised off-lead bull terrier (Star, December 6), I would be most grateful if some space could be devoted to the many folks who proffered their assistance at the scene or who have since come forward with offers of help, kind thoughts and good wishes.

In no particular order I would like to thank the gentleman who bravely stepped in to separate the bull terrier from its prey, the police who took Winnie to the vets and have since shown great understanding including putting me in touch with victim support, the veterinary team at Companion Care in Edinburgh Way, the staff at the Summers Farm residential home who offered tea and sympathy following the incident, the folks who looked after my other two dogs there, the paramedics at the scene, the staff at Princess Alexandra Hospital's A&E department and the plastic surgery team at Broomfield Hospital in Chelmsford.

I am deeply touched by offers of help from neighbours in Halyday House sheltered accommodation by means of lifts or getting my shopping, especially from some folks who are elderly and have difficulty in getting about themselves. The council's sheltered housing officers have also been very supportive.

I have to give special thanks to Jenny, the administrator of local organisation Southern Lurcher Rescue, for taking Erin and Annie into her care immediately following the incident and for ferrying Winnie and myself to and from the vets and hospital on several occasions.

Offers of assistance - as well as treats for Winnie and my other two dogs Erin and Annie - have come from fellow dog walkers.

Strangers have stopped me in the street to offer their sympathy and concern for Winnie, to wish us both well in terms of our recovery and to express their shock at what occurred.

I must apologise if I have inadvertently failed to thank anyone for their kindness but this has been a most distressing and traumatic experience for all my little family, so please forgive any omissions.

The most important thing is that Winnie is mending well. Her stitches were removed this week and the little lass has coped brilliantly throughout her ordeal. She is a superstar and I am immensely proud of her.

John had a keen interest in development of town

SIR, Last week the Star reported on the collapse and subsequent death of a jogger, without being able to name him. It has since come to light the jogger was John Deards, secretary of Harlow Civic Society.

John accepted the post of secretary when the society was first formed and has meticulously booked meeting rooms and sent out agendas and minutes for over 10 years.

Deeply interested in the development of Harlow as a new town, he often contributed his views on issues relating to maintaining standards and kept a close watch on planning applications on behalf of the society.

I would like to take this opportunity to pay tribute to John's efforts and express our deep condolences to his family. As a consistent contributor to our meetings and a reliable supporter, he will be sadly missed.

Stan Newens
chairman, Harlow Civic Society

Stop NHS privatisation

SIR, I would like to request that the doctors in Harlow help save local NHS services by writing in the constitution of the Clinical Commissioning Group clauses to prevent the privatisation of our local services.

Public opinion is firmly against privatisation and as you take control of the services you provide to the Harlow community, it is only right and proper that you reflect this.

Steve Drewett
Bishopsfield, Harlow

Thanks for a special day

SIR, I would like to say a big thank-you to Daniel Robinson & Sons, the police, the fire service, Harlow Playhouse and everybody involved in the children's Christmas trip to the panto on Saturday.

They made a very special day for families who are going through stressful and sad times. The day will leave lasting memories.

Christmas memories of a dear Son and Brother.

Thinking of you and missing you more than words could ever say for life seemed to change forever on the day you went away. And this season's lost its sparkle now that you're no longer here. Gone is all the warmth and laughter and those feelings of good cheer. But each night, there in the distance shines a brilliant Christmas star which is heavens way of showing just exactly where you are. And on Christmas Day, as always and on each day yet to come you'll be loved, missed and remembered, for you meant the world dear Son. Love now always and forever, Mum, Dad, Sandra and Angela.

Last throw of the dice for town welfare rights service

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

THE trustees of Harlow Welfare Rights & Advice have made a last-gasp plea for financial assistance as they fight to save the service from closure.

The future of HWRA is hanging by a thread following Harlow Council's decision to withdraw its core source of funding in a row over unpaid debts.

The service had offered to repay the cash owed to the authority – understood to be in the region of £120,000 – over several months, but the authority rejected the proposed repayment plan and instead terminated its contract with the organisation, making 12 staff redundant.

Last week the council formally put the contract out to tender, setting a deadline of January 16 for expressions of interest.

But speaking to the Star yesterday (Wednesday), HWRA trustee chairman Les Coben said defiant staff, trustees and friends of the embattled service were not prepared to give up the fight just yet – and urged supporters to donate what they could to help mount a legal battle against the authority.

"It is difficult to understand how we have reached the point at which the skilled specialist staff employed by HWRA have been made redundant and other funding has been put at risk at a time when the service is needed more than ever," he said.

"It appears that councillors may not have been advised about all the options for dealing with the financial difficulties HWRA faced."

He added: "A fighting fund has now been set up by the Friends of HWRA and we would like to thank all those who have already donated."

"Setting up a new specialist service makes a costly nonsense of the council's decision to force the Advice Centre to close its doors."

But council leader Mark Wilkinson insist-

CLOSED: HWRA staff outside the Advice Centre in East Gate

ed there would be no 11th-hour reprieve for HWRA.

"The council is very sorry that matters have reached this point but its position has not changed," he said.

"The council had no choice but to terminate the contract with HWRA. We have started a new contract tender process to find an organisation to provide specialist welfare rights and advice services for residents."

"In the meantime we are providing information to residents on where they can get free help and advice on matters such as debt, legal, employment and housing issues."

Anyone wanting to make a donation to the Friends of HWRA's fighting fund can do so by cheque made payable to Friends of HWRA. Cheques should be sent or delivered by hand to Harlowsave Credit Union, The Library, The High, Harlow, CM20 1HA.

Get a kick out of your music

HERE'S a question for all you who enjoy listening to music - how would you like to hear your favourite tunes blasting out of your FEET?

A New York design studio will soon be giving people the opportunity to find out for themselves after coming up with an unusual idea - sneaker speakers that strap onto your trainers!

The battery-powered devices work with wireless-enabled devices including smartphones and tablets to give users the ability to access their music library without the need for wires.

They are attached to the feet using adjustable straps. Creator Ray Kingston told reporters he hoped they would become a "must-have" gadget for music fans.

"These futuristic alternative urban devices increase your ghetto vibe, by wearing them onto your shoes" he said, adding the speakers would provide, crisp, high-quality sound even though they're located some distance from the wearer's ears.

There are currently no details of when the Sneaker Speakers will be made available in the UK and no price guides. But if you do pick up a pair when they're eventually launched, you're probably better off keeping them for sharing music while out and about with your friends and not on a crowded bus or train!

Aries Mar 21-Apr 20
Venus moves into a fab location for you, and along with the power, of the recent New Moon, all this can see you feel super optimistic and hopeful. In fact, one conversation you have may seem to be too good to be true, so keep your feet on the ground, especially over any romantic hopes. This is not a time to promise anything which will become a burden. Call me now for your love scope in full...

Taurus Apr 21-May 21
Jupiter is at the heart of much of this week's activities, and it is going to help us all to feel that things can be fun and in keeping with our seasonal hopes. However, in your case, it may well tempt you to spend more than you had previously intended. You may also find that your discipline around any tasty treats is likely to hit rock bottom as your sweet tooth dominates. Call for your financial forecast...

Gemini May 22-Jun 21
If you get chatting to someone new, you can absolutely fizz with charisma, and they may find you very attractive, almost irresistible. Sounds wonderful doesn't it? And it can be. The problem could be if you find yourself getting too close to this person too soon, and then you can feel much less at ease. A time to try and let romance develop at its own pace. Call me now for your love scope in full...

Cancer Jun 22-Jul 23
You might find yourself on a mission to help anyone less fortunate, and you can wholesomely embrace the traditional aspects of this time of year. Yet don't let anyone guilt trip you into doing what they want. And if you feel you need to say no, do have the confidence to say so. Fortunately, the Sun's move can help you to assert yourself more firmly. Call me now for more news and astral advice...

Leo Jul 24-Aug 23
The invitations can continue to flow in, and it really may be hard to pack everything in that you feel you want to do. However, equally things can be fast moving, and someone may disappoint you by not keeping to their end of a bargain or commitment. Yet when it comes to your word power, you really will be able to sparkle and charm for fun. Call your special prediction line for more news and advice...

Virgo Aug 24-Sept 23
You will continue to want to do your best when it comes to home comforts. If you want to get a decorative scheme done in time for Christmas, you can find yourself pushing hard to complete this. At work, a colleague or boss may surprise you with a revelation. You can also find yourself interacting more with people from different age groups to yours. Call now for more news and astral advice...

Libra Sept 24-Oct 23
If you are set to head off over the Christmas or New Year holiday, it's important that you double check all the details. It may be that you actually booked some while ago, but by contacting your air carrier, resort or accommodation provider, you can double check everything is in place as it should be. It would be also wise not to rush any legal documentation. Call me now for your in-depth forecast...

Scorpio Oct 24-Nov 22
Money you have been waiting on can finally materialise, refilling your coffers and giving you a major boost in the last full week of Christmas shopping. But even if you do suddenly feel flush, it's going to be important not to be too spendthrift. If you get too caught up in the moment, cash could rush out of your bank at an alarming rate. Stay steady. Call me now for your financial forecast in full...

Sagittarius Nov 23-Dec 21
You happy go lucky personality can see you very much in the thick of all the fun, but it may also see you find it hard to say no, or to give yourself the time to have a break and take a breath. You may also get so much into the revelries, that your ordinary role or responsibilities can seem very dull and unattractive, so do try to keep your focus. Sagittarius. Call now for more news and astral advice...

Capricorn Dec 22-Jan 20
If you have been working a lot of extra hours in the run up to Christmas, or have been trying to ensure that everything is meticulously planned for the big day, all the change of routine can really affect your energy. Neville's book took 14 years to write

A HARLOW man's 14-year labour of love has culminated in the publication of a fascinating book on the fight to abolish capital punishment in Britain.

Following the completion of his PhD in political history at London Metropolitan University, Neville Twitchell (58), of Rundells, spent several years transforming his thesis into a detailed account of the campaign to abolish hanging in the UK.

The result – The Politics Of The Rope: The Campaign To Abolish Capital Punishment In Britain (1955-1969) – has now been published, and Mr Twitchell hopes it will prove to be the perfect stocking filler for history buffs this Christmas.

The first-time author, who currently works as a cashier in betting shop William Hill, said: "The book is an accumulation of 10 years work because I was doing my PhD part-time.

"There were an additional four years of research, going everywhere to look at documents and turning my original thesis, which I had so much additional information for, into a book.

"The result is an account of the campaign to abolish hanging, which looks at the role played by the pressure groups, the response of the political parties and how the media covered the topic - in particular television and how the church and its position changed."

He added: "I think the book covers capital punishment much more broadly than other political books currently on the market.

"I have always been interested in capital punishment. I had so much work leftover from my thesis that I thought it would make a good, interesting book."

The book is currently for sale online at Amazon and through other high street booksellers.

Raising spirits at Bar Humbug

review

A CHRISTMAS CAROL
Victoria Hall Theatre, Old Harlow

HOPE and despair, poverty and plenty, selfishness and salvation – life's rich pageant is played out quite magnificently in Victoria Hall Theatre's arresting adaptation of a Dickens classic.

Spiriting audiences away to the Christmas crossroads of Victorian Britain where a confluence of novelty and nostalgia gave birth to the festive traditions we cherish today, this thoroughly traditional production seems tailor-made for the venue. And its coincidence with the bicentenary of the author's birth makes it all the more apposite.

An exemplary ensemble cast, assured direction and wonderful attention to detail make this an evening out to remember – and the perfect tonic for the stresses and strains of the season.

From the mulled wine and mince pies on offer at the makeshift Bar Humbug in the theatre foyer to the shimmering snowfall-effect lighting at curtain-up, director Simon Mawdsley pulls out all the stops to get audience members into the Christmas spirit before they've even taken their seats.

What follows is a wonderfully immersive piece of theatre that quite rightly eschews over-elaborate sets and snazzy special effects to place emphasis on Dickens's gifts for storytelling and characterisation.

Naturally, a pre-requisite for any successful adaptation of A Christmas Carol is an actor with the talent and range to make Ebenezer Scrooge's self-reflective journey from greed to redemption both engaging and believable, and in the brilliant Steve Foster this production certainly isn't found wanting.

It's a typically towering performance from the am-dram stalwart, whose gradual transformation from miserly misanthrope to wide-eyed philanthropist is a joy to watch.

The impressive Mike Hughes is neither sanctimonious nor sentimental as Scrooge's long-suffering employee Bob Cratchit, with Alyssa Upton an ideal foil as the stern but loving wife whose unbreakable spirit is the glue holding her ever-expanding household together. Rick Munns makes for a brilliantly brooding Jacob Marley, Steve Hannam cuts an imposing figure as jolly giant the Ghost Of Christmas Present and Molly Jenkins provides some light relief with a wonderfully ditzzy take on the Ghost of Christmas Past.

Dolleen Howlett wrings further laughs from the audience as crotchety old soak Mrs Haverstack, while Alex Bennett puts in a memorable cameo as lecherous gold-digger Topper Lampwick, eager to get his hands on the family fortunes of Scrooge's good-hearted niece, Freda (a typically assured performance from Tasha Saxby).

A winter warmer to thaw even the frostiest of hearts, this is a production guaranteed to put the glow back into your cheeks this Christmas.

A tour-de-force of technical wizardry

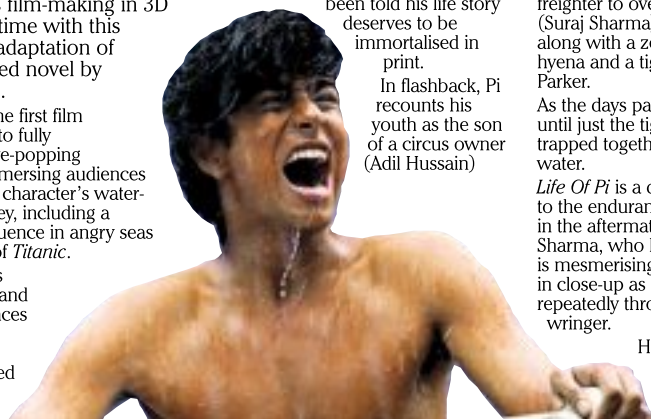

LIFE OF PI (3D & 2D)
certificate PG, 2h07m

OSCAR-winning director Ang Lee experiences film-making in 3D for the first time with this handsome adaptation of the acclaimed novel by Yann Martel.

Life Of Pi is the first film since Avatar to fully exploit the eye-popping format by immersing audiences in the central character's water-logged odyssey, including a terrifying sequence in angry seas reminiscent of Titanic.

Lee's vision is breathtaking and entire sequences have been masterfully choreographed to take full advantage of the depth that 3D brings to the big screen.

An inquisitive writer (Rafe Spall) turns up unexpectedly at the door of Pi Patel (Irfan Khan), having been told his life story deserves to be immortalised in print. In flashback, Pi recounts his youth as the son of a circus owner (Adil Hussain) who decided to sell the family business in Pondicherry and emigrate to Canada with his wife Gita (Tabu) and two boys.

A raging storm causes the Japanese freighter to overturn and young Pi (Suraj Sharma) escapes in a lifeboat along with a zebra, an orang-utan, a hyena and a tiger called Richard Parker.

As the days pass the predators prevail until just the tiger and Pi remain, trapped together in a vast expanse of water.

Life Of Pi is a deeply moving tribute to the endurance of the human spirit in the aftermath of senseless tragedy. Sharma, who has never acted before, is mesmerising, plucking heartstrings in close-up as his character is flung repeatedly through the emotional wringer.

He doesn't strike a single false note and his relationship with the tiger is beautifully realised in tense, humorous and touching scenes.

Claudio Miranda's sumptuous cinematography ravishes the senses, enhanced by slick digital effects which bring the menagerie of two- and four-legged species to life.

Lee marshals a dizzying array of elements with jaw-dropping ease, proving that substance and style can be blissful bedfellows in the right hands.

It's a tour-de-force of technical wizardry – a school of flying fish darts straight at the camera, the walls of a freshwater pool seem to stretch down into inky blackness forever and shards of moonlight break through overlapping tree canopies laden with chattering meerkats.

Yet all of this gorgeous wrapping would mean nothing without a deep emotional core and once again Lee elicits stunning performances from his ensemble cast that leave us choking back tears.

THE HOBBIT: AN UNEXPECTED JOURNEY Director Peter Jackson returns to Middle-earth in the first instalment of The Hobbit trilogy, beginning at Bag End with the elderly Bilbo (Ian Holm) penning a book to his cousin Frodo (Elijah Wood). Rewind 60 years and we meet the young Bilbo (Martin Freeman) in the Shire as he encounters Gandalf The Grey (Sir Ian McKellen) and a 13-strong company of dwarves, who intend to reclaim their lost gold from the dragon Smaug in his mountain lair. Bilbo agrees to accompany dwarf leader Thorin Oakenshield (Richard Armitage) and his troops on their perilous mission. En route, the party encounter elvish allies including Elrond (Hugo Weaving) and Galadriel (Cate Blanchett), as well as 'wretched Gollum (Andy Serkis) and the corpulent Goblin King (Barry Humphries).

TINKER BELL AND THE SECRET OF THE WINGS (2D only) In the magical realm of Pixie Hollow ruled by Queen Clarion, Tinker Bell and her friends busy themselves gathering berries and coaxing flowers to bloom. Fairy Mary oversees the final shipments of baskets, which snowy owls collect and fly into the Winter Woods. When the time comes for the animals to cross into the kingdom ruled by Lord Milor, Tink helps Fawn to lead the creatures to the border, aware that she and her pals are forbidden from crossing the divide. But curiosity gets the better of the mischievous fairy and Tink hitches a ride inside the last basket to the Winter Woods, where a visit to the keeper of the library reveals that she has a sister called Periwinkle.

RISE OF THE GUARDIANS (2D only) Santa Claus (voiced by Alec Baldwin) and his elves are hard at work at the North Pole when darkness flashes across his map of the Earth. Santa tells his fellow guardians Easter Bunny (Hugh Jackman), Tooth Fairy (Isa Fisher) and Sandman that the bogeyman – Pitch Black (Jude Law) – has risen to challenge their supremacy but they refuse to believe him. However, once the threat posed by Pitch Black becomes terrifyingly real, the guardians prepare to welcome a new recruit to their fold – Jack Frost (Chris Pine). As Pitch Black gains in strength and the children of the world turn their backs on Santa, Easter Bunny, Tooth Fairy and Sandman, everything rests on Jack to save the day.

NATIVITY 2: DANGER IN THE MANGER St Bernadette's primary school is in dire straits and headmistress Mrs Bevans (Pam Ferris) is at the end of her tether. She can barely contain her relief when supply teacher Donald Peterson (David Tennant) arrives to take charge of the excitable pupils, but one disastrous lesson with hyperactive classroom assistant Mr Poppy (Marc Wootton) is enough to convince Mr Peterson he has made a terrible mistake. But he changes his mind when Mrs Bevans promises to make him headmaster if he stays and helps Mr Poppy audition the children for a national choir competition.

SKYFALL James Bond's loyalty to M is tested as her past comes back to haunt her. As M16 comes under attack, 007 must track down and destroy the threat, no matter how personal the cost.

PITCH PERFECT
certificate 12A, 1h47m

BECA (Anna Kendrick) arrives at Barden College with dreams of becoming a music producer, much to the chagrin of her father, university professor Dr Mitchell (John Benjamin Hickey). He promises to fund a career in Los Angeles if she agrees to become involved in campus life. So Beca reluctantly signs up with all-girl acappella group The Bellas, who flopped spectacularly at last year's sing-off when soloist Aubrey (Anna Camp) projectile vomited over the audience.

Aubrey's right-hand gal, Chloe (Brittany Snow), is open to Beca's bold ideas to reinvigorate the repertoire but Aubrey insists they stick to her songbook of 1990s favourites.

New girl Fat Amy (Rebel Wilson) also throws her considerable weight behind Beca, but as the competition draws near tensions are evident.

Large family home with four receptions & four bedrooms

coverproperty

Location Kingsmoor Road, Harlow

Category Four-bedroom detached

Additional Four reception rooms, wine cellar, en suite to master bedroom, double garage

Guide price £489,950

Agent Howick and Brooker, Gothic House, High Street, Old Harlow. Telephone (01279) 418888

SITUATED in the popular Great Parndon area of Harlow, this week's cover property is a four-bedroom family home with four reception rooms and many great features including a wine cellar, an en-suite to the master bedroom and a large, private rear garden.

The detached house is set back from the main road in a cul-de-sac location. The current owners have lived here for more than 40 years and have kept the property very well maintained throughout.

To the front of the property there is a large driveway with plenty of parking space and a double garage.

The front porch opens into an entrance hall. On the ground floor there is a cloakroom, large lounge, dining room, conservatory, kitchen/breakfast room, utility room and a good size study as well as the wine cellar.

The simple and stylish kitchen features a range of white units which give it contemporary appeal.

On the first floor landing there are doors leading off to the four bedrooms and the family bathroom.

The house has been decorated throughout in neutral colours which will make it ideal for new occupants as it will suit most tastes and styles of furniture.

The large rear garden is about a third of an acre and has been well maintained. There are attractive flower and shrub borders, making it a perfect place to relax and entertain.

This property has come on to the market with no onward chain. For full details or to arrange a viewing, contact selling agents Howick and Brooker in Harlow on (01279) 418888.

SMALL is now big business in the car world, and nowhere is this more obvious than in the SUV sector. With fuel prices rocketing and space in our cities at a premium, large 4x4s are taking a back seat to their compact cousins.

It doesn't mean that the basic 4x4 concept has gone stale, though. In the minds of many it remains a winning combination and is challenging the family hatch for popularity.

And seeking a piece of the action is Vauxhall, with its Mokka mini SUV. Positioned close to Nissan's Juke, Vauxhall hopes the Mokka can add a much-needed slice of excitement to its range. The lifestyle SUV is pitched as the fun-loving foil to the sensible shoe-wearing Corsa and Astra.

From the outside the Mokka is easily identifiable as a Vauxhall. The car's bold grille and streamlined profile is very much in keeping with the rest of the range. In typical Vauxhall style this is a conservative lifestyle-look with a small 'c'.

Step inside and Vauxhall fans will feel very much at home thanks to the familiar fascia design and cabin layout. From the look and feel of the

Fact File

Vauxhall Mokka Tech Line 1.4 16v Turbo Start/Stop 4x4 5door

from £18,200

ENGINE: 1.4-litre turbo petrol unit developing 140bhp
TRANSMISSION: 6-speed manual transmission as standard
PERFORMANCE: Top speed 121mph, 0-62mph in 9.8 secs
ECONOMY: 43.5mpg
CO² RATING: 149g/km various cabin materials and switchgear, there's little here that will confuse an Astra owner. But that's where the similarities end, as the Mokka's lofty seating position is something the family hatch can't match.

On a practical front, the Mokka's elevated rear load lip is a direct result of the car's raised ride height – a useful feature. Factor in the split-fold rear seating and ample 1,372 litres of load space with the rear seats folded and it's clear why so many buyers are trading up from regular family hatchbacks.

The well-worn cliché of 4x4s never leaving the city might still be true in some quarters, but Vauxhall would like you to think of the Mokka as more than just a suburban runabout.

By assembling familiar engines from the maker's wider range and offering the Mokka with both front and four-wheel drive, it'll do more than climb supermarket car park speed humps.

Maintaining its conservative approach, Vauxhall is offering the Mokka with two petrol engines (1.4 turbo and 1.6) and one diesel (1.7). It's manual gearboxes all round, with the option of an auto unit for the 1.4 petrol and 1.7 diesel. Power outputs range from 115-140 bhp, and there's the promise of 60-plus mpg from the front-drive diesel variant and a tax-friendly 120g/km CO₂ rating.

If you do opt for all-wheel drive, the potential to keep you on the Tarmac when the roads are extra slippery is there, along with the ability to tow modest amounts and get you closer to your favourite mountain bike trail.

With the focus on fuel economy the system directs all the power to the front wheels, with up to 50 per cent going to the rear wheels if it detects a loss of grip. Vauxhall's keen to stress that such a system can also help maintain composure and traction during hard on-road cornering.

Boasting UK-specific handling and steering tweaks, the Mokka acquires itself well to the challenges of city life. The steering is accurate and there's enough weight to inspire confidence, while the suspension copes well with most of what the urban environment can throw at it.

Of the petrol pairing, the 1.4 turbo motor delivers the more satisfying experience and, although in this guise the Mokka is no rocketship, it will can keep up with the traffic and maintain a relaxed motorway pace without breaking into a sweat.

With a generous level of standard kit offered across the range to tempt buyers into the Mokka fold, it's good to see Vauxhall resisting the urge to cut corners. From the basic but useful hill start assist to plenty of safety kit plus Bluetooth, high-end audio and sat-nav on high spec cars, the lifestyle boxes have been well and truly ticked.

Designed to appeal to both private and company car drivers with its generous levels of kit and practical cabin, it's good to see Vauxhall represented in the compact SUV sector.

The competition is tough but the Mokka displays enough potential to hold its own in the marketplace.

Scrap

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

End of the road? Get over it and move on with your local ATF:

B & T Motor Salvage

We offer free collection, on the same day if necessary, using our own recovery vehicles and issue a Certificate of Destruction from the Department of Vehicle Licensing Authority via our direct link to their website. Payment per vehicle negotiable.

BROAD OAK MANOR

Home Manager -

We are seeking a dynamic and dedicated Manager who is RGN qualified and who possesses strong leadership qualities to run our reputable nursing home. You will be responsible for ensuring the highest quality of person centred care is delivered and that it meets individual's needs through effective leadership and management of employees and agreed financial targets. Your responsibility will be to ensure the Home cares for every client as an individual, ensure care standards, marketing of the home, budget management and establishing a team of carers of the highest calibre. You will be people orientated and have a solid understanding of CQC regulations.

 All qualified applicants with current entitlement to work in the UK (including for example HSMV visas) are welcome. We regret we are unable to seek work permits on behalf of candidates, which means that applicants requiring work permits unfortunately will not be considered.

We endeavour to reply to all applications, however, if you haven't heard from us within 7 days, you have been unsuccessful with this particular role. You are very welcome to apply to future advertisements placed by Broad Oak Manor.

(Try offering £30,000 - £33,000 for the right candidate) also the position commences on the 31st January.

Notice is hereby given that the Essex County Council proposes to make the above Orders under Sections 84(1) and (2) and Part III to Schedule 9 of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984.

Effect of the order: To introduce a 40MPH speed limit on that length of Roydon Road, Harlow/Harlow Road, Roydon in the Districts of Harlow & Epping Forest from a point approximately 50 metres north of its junction with the Roydon Road/Parkway Roundabout, in a generally northerly then westerly direction, for a distance of approximately 1020 metres (The road is currently derestricted).

Further details: A copy of the draft Order, a map illustrating the proposal and the Statement of Reasons may be examined at all reasonable hours at Environment, Sustainability & Highways, County Hall, Chelmsford; Harlow District Council, Civic Centre, The Water Gardens, Harlow; Epping Forest District Council, Civic Offices, High Street, Epping and at Harlow Library, The High, Harlow.

Objections: Anyone who wishes to object to the proposed Orders should send the grounds for their objection in writing to 'TRO Comments, South Area Highways Office, 1 Endeavour Drive, Festival Business Park, Basildon, SS14 3WF' or e-mail to TRO-commentsoutharea@essex.gov.uk, by 18 January 2013.

Dated: 20 December 2012

Liz Saville, Head of Network Management, County Hall, Chelmsford.

Fortune reversal

>>Cont'd from back midway point of the first quarter as Russell Stonehouse converted a number of lay-ups to keep Hawks in contention with the scores at 20-15 in favour of Cats.

In the second quarter,
Hawks improved both in defence and offence.
This helped Harlow to draw level at 24-24 halfway through the quarter.

But then missed opportunities and turnovers allowed Cats to put 19 unanswered points on the board to lead 43-26 at the halftime break.

Cambridge opened up a 63-35 lead going into the final break.

Hawks outscored the hosts 19-15 in the final quarter.

But Harlow were too far adrift at that stage to get anything from the game.

Resurgent Rams' four-midable run

HARLOW 37,
SUDBURY 18
RFU LONDON & SE,
DIV THREE NORTH EAST

THE Rams climbed to seventh with their fourth successive victory.

Harlow scored five very good tries and made sure of a bonus point after only 42 minutes' play.

The Suffolk side are coached by Graham Richards, the former coaching director at Harlow.

Harlow got off to an excellent start, scoring a try after two minutes. Wing Will Grimley's pace proved just too much for the visitors and he touched down in the corner for an unconverted try.

Harlow were penalised for a rucking offence and Sudbury slotted the kick, reducing the margin to 5-3.

Winger Chris Webb made a very good break before outpacing the defence to cross the line and cut in and touch down behind the posts on 15 minutes.

Danny Smith converted for a 12-3 lead.

Sudbury fought back and Shaun Smith touched down for a try to cut the gap to 12-8.

However, Smith slotted over a penalty for 15-8.

On the half-hour mark the Rams failed to convert from a pushover, but from the subsequent line-out Rhys Powell made an excellent break, weaving his way between two defenders to dive for the line and touch down near the posts.

Smith slotted the conversion for an 22-8 half-time lead.

Harlow increased their advantage soon after the break when Smith's penalty hit the upright and bounced back into play. The forwards cleaned up possession and Danny Stonehouse crashed through to touch down for a try.

The conversion was just short, but the fourth try secured a bonus point.

Smith added a penalty before Harlow scored a pushover try through Darren Hawkins.

Smith converted this and Harlow were 37-8 ahead.

With quarter of an hour to go Sudbury cut through a tiring Harlow defence for their second try.

Seven minutes later they again found the gaps in the Essex side's line to run in another try and make it 37-18.

Sudbury pushed on in search of a bonus point, but Harlow defended well and there was no further score.

Senior player Paul Eynon said: "It's coming together after a slow start, we hope for a very good new year."

HARLOW: Ephgrave, Roze (Cunningham 70), Stonehouse, Twiner, Unwin, Roberts (capt.), James (Lane 60), Hawkins, Powell, Smith, Webb (Fricker 60), Dobson, L. Bowering, Grimley, Mackie.

● JACK Snell scored a try and a conversion as Harlow U-14 lost 18-8 at home to rivals Upper Clapton in the Essex League.

Other results: Harlow U-15 62, Stevenage 10; Harlow U-16 17, Newmarket 28; Harlow U-17 31, Finchley 34.

Coe for broke

aim had been to run 1:44.

Osagie, whose family home is in Northbrooks, is therefore ahead of schedule in his progression and Lord Coe reckons he can be a medal contender in Moscow.

"Absolutely. You enter an Olympic final then you are quite capable of getting into a World Championship final and if you are in a final you can win medals," said Lord Coe.

"I really hope that Andrew Osagie believes he can beat David Rudisha in Moscow.

"I'm not saying that is the easiest ambition to realise, but there is no reason why Andrew Osagie should not be going to training believing he is quite capable of winning a medal in Moscow next year."

Osagie is now ranked fourth on the British all-time 800m list behind Coe, Steve Cram and Peter Elliott, all three Olympic medallists.

But the two-time reigning UK champion knows better than anyone his event is now perhaps the toughest in the sport - and should only get harder.

Rudisha is only 23, while Amos, Olympic bronze medallist and Rudisha's compatriot Timothy Kitum and Mohammed Aman, another Olympic finalist, are all just 18 years old.

"When he performs like that in the third round of an Olympic Games there are not many people who can beat him," Osagie said of Rudisha in the wake of his record-breaking run.

Doing so only once, in four years' time in Brazil at the 2014 Olympics, would probably suit him just fine.

A source of hope

spirit is growing.

"We have shown we can do this without throwing bundles and bundles of dough at it. We have a group of players who want to do it for each other."

Speaking straight after Saturday's narrow home loss against runaway leaders Maldon & Tiptree United, he revealed: "I got in from work at six o'clock this morning. But we all want to be here. It's a work in progress. We need to keep everyone as happy as possible and grow as a team."

"The aim for some would be the top 10 but if we bring in one or two more? I just want to win every football match."

Harlow gave a home debut to new signing striker Scott Williams on Saturday. Brown enthused: "He's a good lad. He works hard. I think he will be alright."

Right-back Jake Young could return this Saturday. He was unavailable with work commitments against Maldon.

But utility player Andrew Burns has ended his loan spell from Dagenham and switch to another loan at Harlow's neighbours Bishop's Stortford.

Dagenham have agreed to another one-month loan for midfielder Tom Davie, who has impressed in his short time at Barrows Farm.

Servo increase gap

LEADERS Servolink beat Golden Swift 8-0 with help from a 180 from Roy Leftwich in the Harlow & District Premier Darts League.

They edged another point ahead of White Admiral who beat Moot House 7-1.

A 105 outshot from Rob Winslow helped Sawbridgeworth Brewery win 5-3 at Tye Green Whites.

Stow Snooker beat Tye Green Foxes 6-2 with 180s from Tom Jennings and Dave Baker.

Paringdon Social recorded only their third win of the season, beating Crusader 8-0. Other results: Moot House Raiders 1, Staple Tye Colts 7; Bucaneers 4, Colt Hatch 4.

THERE is racing at Harlow Greyhound Stadium this Friday (December 21). Langley triumph in tag rugby tournament

CHURCH Langley School's A team returned victorious from the Harlow Primary Schools tag rugby finals.

The side, above, recorded a fantastic 4-2 win over St Nicholas in the climax to a thrilling afternoon of rugby involving 16 teams from Harlow schools.

Tries by Ikram Abou (2), Austin Kirk and Charlie Hawkes ensured that the Harlow school secured a second tag rugby tournament after victory at Upper Clapton RFC earlier this year.

Having progressed through the group stages with four victories, the A team together with Latton Green, St Nicholas and Church Langley B contested the semi-finals.

Some excellent play from Toby House, Joshua Scott, Ellie Wollaston, Jessica Rayif-Pearson, Jasmine Devine and Phoebe Barnsley edged out Latton Green to set up the final with St Nicholas, who knocked out Church Langley's B team with a golden try when the other semi went to extra-time.

The event, held at Harlow Rugby Club, witnessed some fantastic passing and running rugby.

Gill Pardoe, a Church Langley School teaching assistant who coaches the children, beamed: "All the children really worked hard for this trophy, behind the scenes they have trained before and after school and it's great that their efforts have been rewarded."

Runner-up spot's scant consolation

RUNNING

DESPITE a brilliant runner-up spot from Jared Bethell, Harlow Running Club remain out of the picture after the second round of the East Herts and West Essex Cross Country League.

Saffron Striders continue to dominate following the very muddy and very heavy going five-mile race at Ware on Sunday, involving 92 runners.

Harlow also had the first three veteran 60 runners to finish.

John Tennant won and was 38th overall.

Roy Steven and Pasquale Pellechia were just behind him in respective overall positions of 56th and 62nd.

First Harlow lady was Julia Gardiner in a superb 4th place out of 51 finishers, while Dionne Jones was 9th and 3rd Vet 35 and Paula Reynolds was 13th.

The men's race was won by Saffron Striders with 111 points, Ware Joggers (191) were second with Harlow (257) third and Bishop's Stortford (342) fourth.

In the women's race, hosts Ware (52) were first with Bishop's Stortford (94) second, Saffron Striders (97) third and Harlow (114) fourth.

Overall, Saffron Striders were winners on the day followed by Ware, Harlow and Bishop's Stortford and after two races the league positions are Saffron Striders first, Ware second, Harlow third and Bishop's Stortford fourth.

Glen Paxman was 10th and Rob Alston 13th for Harlow.

Other HRC results (men): 19th Paul Jeffrey-Read; 23rd Jamie Jephcott; 30th Jason Haigh; 37th William Wall; 41st Sean Flynn; 44th John Bull; 45th Alan Cootes; 46th Jamie Berger; 49th Graham George; 50th Daniel Jephcott; 58th Graham Pugh; 63rd Alan Harman; 74th Graham Saville; 77th Martin McColgan; 78th Peter Ayling; 79th Chris Wagner; 85th Ron Newton; 86th Terry Heapy; 87th Terry Pike; 90th Robim Lozeau.

Women: 25th Vicky Steadman; 30th Janice Page; 33rd Sharon Wright; 34th Zoe Delaney; 36th Karen Moir; 43rd Holly Nairn; 47th Michelle Aitken; 48th Clare Sees.

● Harlow's Steve Murtagh was 83rd out of 392 finishers in 31 minutes 7 seconds at the Metropolitan Cross Country League, run over a very muddy and very hilly course at Alexandra Palace on Saturday.

He was followed home by John Tennant (309th in 39.07) and Martin McColgan (363rd in 43.20).

HARLOW 0, MALDON & TIPTREE UTD 1 RYMAN LEAGUE, DIVISION ONE NORTH

By ALAN SCOTT

alan.scott@hertsexnews.co.uk

PLAYER-coach Danny Brown refused to condemn the referee despite him refusing FOUR strong penalty appeals for Harlow Town against tabletoppers Maldon & Tiptree United.

Harlow out-played the runaway division one north leaders on Saturday and even dominated after going down to 10 men when Michael Akande, making his first start after signing from Ware, was sent off with 15 minutes left.

It might be the season of goodwill, but referee Tim Donnellan was certainly not in a giving mood.

Brown told the Star: "I don't like blaming referees but he was one of the poorest we have had. But he's not the reason why we lost the match."

"They [Maldon] are top. They can get a result like that. That's why they are runaway leaders. We went 1-0 down, but we were still driving on."

"They have quality players and they took that chance. It was frustrating though."

Donny Barnard had arguably his finest game in a Harlow shirt, while midfielders Tom Davie and Hector Mackie were both outstanding.

Harlow had several first-half chances, the best of which came from Davie's storming run and centre as Mitchell Das and then Piers Wixon were both denied by Maldon keeper Tom Wright.

Around the half-hour mark Maldon defender Michael Toner appeared to handle in the box. But this was not seen by the referee or his assistant.

Six minutes before the break Wixon was upended by Lewis Dark inside the box, but Mr Donnellan ordered the Harlow striker to get up.

Early in the second half a spectacular long-range strike from Mackie forced a wonderful tip-over save from Wright to deny Harlow a certain goal.

Harlow continued to dominate and were unlucky when the ref gave them a free-kick for a foul on Mackie when Reffing hell!

Spot of bad luck as Hawks out-play leaders Maldon - and lose

Wixon was through and advantage should have been played.

Maldon started to come into the game around the hour mark and Jamie Guy and ex-Harlow midfielder Ben Bradbury both went desperately close.

Hawks keeper Bertrand Bossu then came to the rescue with a brilliant save from Joe Gardner's powerful free-kick on 67 minutes and moments later Guy's strike clipped the bar.

The visitors took the lead on 73 minutes. Everett's centre from the right was met by Guy as Akande failed to pick up his run and the striker slotted the ball in from close range.

Akande, needlessly booked in the first half, picked up a second yellow card for a foul on 75 minutes, a rather harsh decision.

Harlow dominated after going down to 10 and had two more penalty appeals.

Scott Williams, on his home debut, went down inside the box in injury-time, moments before Joe O'Donoghue's shot from just outside the box struck Ollie Berquez's raised hands but on both occasions the ref remained statuesque.

Brown added: "It's a little but depressing, but we are making good strides."

HARLOW TN: Bossu 7, Akande 6, O'Donoghue 8, Barnard 9, Brown 8, Muguo 7, Davie 9, Mackie 9, Williams 8, Wixon 8, Das 8. Subs not used: Gill, Cass, Deane, Tamai. Att: 115.

Join Hawk and be mascot for a day at a Harlow Town game

The Star has teamed up with Harlow Town Football Club to offer one lucky young reader the chance to be the mascot at a match.

If you want to appear alongside Hawk the official mascot as a matchday mascot, just answer the question and fill in the coupon on the right.

You can also enter this competition online at www.harlowstar.co.uk

Not only will the lucky winner be mascot at Harlow's Ryman League division one north game at home to Redbridge on Saturday January 12, but the youngster will receive a Harlow Town FC shirt, a scarf and a programme signed by all the players, plus a tour of the stadium.

The family of the mascot will also receive free entry to the match as the Hawks look to continue their impressive run of late with just one loss in five games.

But don't worry if you don't win.

Mascot packages at the Barrows Farm club, managed by Danny Chapman, are available for every home game. Ring marketing manager Jill Dumoulin at the club on (01279) 443196 for more information.

Brown's the source of hope

IT'S all well and good Hawks hitting top form against the top teams, but player-coach Danny Brown is determined the side show as much mettle against the strugglers, writes ALAN SCOTT.

On the back of a run of one defeat in five games, Harlow Town have plenty of room for optimism for 2013.

And with matches against Witham Town (at home on Saturday) and Ware (away on Boxing Day) there is no reason that the side cannot climb further up the table – if the right Harlow turns up.

“We seem to struggle against the bad teams but everyone raises their game against the top teams,” confessed Brown. “When we play the lower teams we need to drive them into the ground. We have to try and go out and win every game. “We find it harder. That’s why you need a good team spirit and go and not play so good but still win. The problem I find with this league is that a team turns up and you don’t know who you are playing. It’s hit and miss with the lower teams.”

Brown and Donny Barnard have been a revelation at the back since returning from injury. The side have kept three clean sheets and conceded just three goals in five games.

Former Leyton Orient and Barnet favourite Brown (32) believes the club is starting to transform.

“If we stick together we can get through it and pick up points. We will be alright. Everyone can see that now, even the fans. The last five matches have been encouraging,” he said.

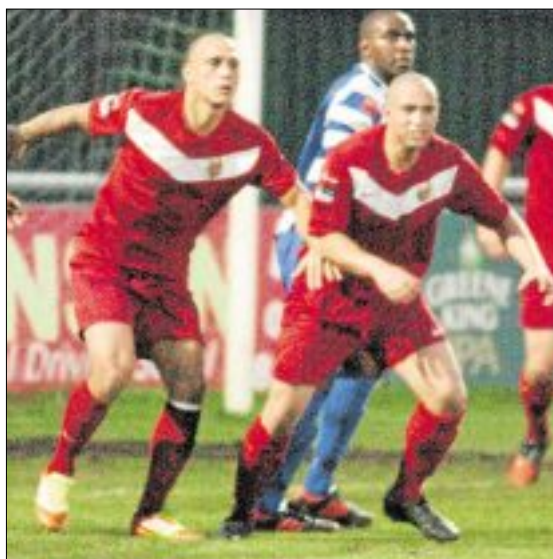

“A couple of months ago it was it so good but we are now putting things together.

“We’ve got some good players fit and the team

Hawks needing a fortune reversal

HARLOW Hawks will be hoping for a reversal in fortunes as they head into 2013.

Shab Niaz's men lost 80-56 at Cambridge Cats in the Herts Premier Basketball League division one on Sunday.

They remain second-from-bottom in the 10-team table.

Key players Nick Moss and Roan Lenihan were unavailable.

Cats got off to a good start as they converted nearly every possession to open up a nine-point lead, while Hawks seemed unable to keep control of the ball in the opening exchanges.

However, the visitors did manage to get on the scoreboard with efforts from Lee Jones and Dave Spashett.

The teams traded baskets from the

Coe for broke

Osagie can medal in World Champs mission to Moscow

SEBASTIAN Coe believes Harlow's Andrew Osagie can build on his success in this year's Olympic Games and emulate his own achievement by returning from his mission to Moscow with a medal.

Lord Coe, who claimed a silver medal in the 800metres at the Moscow Olympics Games in 1980, believes the Harlow Athletic Club favourite can come home with a medal when the World Championships moves to the Russian capital next year.

The year 2012 is when 24-year-old Osagie became a household name.

The men's 800m final was the greatest race the Olympic Stadium crowd witnessed at London 2012.

It featured a world record for gold medallist David Rudisha, picked out by Games chief Coe as his personal highlight of the summer.

The silver medal winner, Botswana's Nigel Amos, ran a world junior record; third, fourth and fifth all ran personal bests; sixth ran an Ethiopian national record; seventh ran a season's best.

And there was also a breakthrough performance from the only Briton in the field, Osagie, who was eighth in a time which would have won gold at the previous three Olympic Games.

His time of one minute 43.77 seconds was more than a second and a half faster than his personal best at the start of the year and sealed his place among the world's best.

Former world record holder Coe said: “I think his progress has been fantastic. If you said to Andrew Osagie at the beginning of the season you are going to run 1:43.8 in the final of the Olympic Games I think he would have taken that.

“I think he really showed maturity through those Games and I think that will be a great platform for the rest of his career.”
